CONFEDERATE REUNION

one of General Lee's trusted lieutenants, made the presentation speeches, which were applauded to the echo.

One of the exciting and inspiring scenes in the convention was when it discussed a resolution of fraternal response to the greeting which had been extended to ex-Confederates by Gen. Dan. E. Sickles at the great meeting in Fredericksburg, Va. Some one from North Carolina opposed it and in substance said: "No favors were asked of them during the war and none are needed now." To which General Gordon made a grand and noble reply: "I trust the time will never come when I stand on Southern ground or among the chivalrous men of the South, when I will refuse to send a kindly message to an enemy. I knew the sender of this message. On the heights of Gettysburg he stood gallantly in front of my lines and it was my bullets that sent him to the rear with a leg off. For me I am going to reciprocate the kindly message of the Northern soldier." His words were an inspiration. They thrilled every heart. Like magic it caused his comrades to see the question as he did. It stayed all opposition and the resolution was unanimously adopted. General Stephen Lee, of Mississippi, uttered similar sentiments to those of Gordon. But we must hasten on.

The weather was execrable and every day of the session it rained so copiously that the outdoor diversions and amusements were abandoned, notably the barbecue and sham battle at the Jockey Club grounds and the grand parade, which last was a bitter disappointment to thousands of veterans, who wanted to enter the ranks one more time. The Georgians were almost heartbroken to think they had brought several carloads of their veterans, every one of whom was minus a leg, arm or eye, and then not be permitted to have the throng look upon their like.

For this parade 4,000 horses had been secured, all saddled and bridled, for which $1.50 each had been paid.

Saturday morning the sun shone resplendently, and then, not to be outdone, a hasty rally was made of the old veterans still remaining and a parade given, which was highly creditable and aroused intense enthusiasm. The fireworks were pulled off Saturday night late and while a grand sight comparatively few of the visitors saw them.

Notes

Among those we met at the reunion was Ocala's staunch friend, Major R. A. Burford, of Dixon Springs, Tenn., father of our honored citizen, Hon. R. A. Burford. The gallant old soldier, though seventy-three years of age, was as agile with the spirit of 1861-5, as lively as a cricket and as jolly as a June morning. Having spent several winters with us and being well known to our people, he wished to be kindly remembered and we take this method of extending the same.

Henry Livingston and his brother Tom became saturated with the friendly greetings and kindly feeling everywhere displayed and it looked once as if they would swap every available acre of timber land in Florida for trust company blocks in Louisville. Tom was so elated at the prospect of securing a position in the largest hardware house of the South, that it was feared he would cease to recognize his old friends.

Col. T. W. Harris, formerly one of the best known newspaper men that ever bestrode the tripod in the Land of Flowers, is now in charge of the railroad tariff sheets in the Newmyer Job Printing House, of Louisville, a position of great responsibility and for which he receives a gratifying compensation. He is the same genial, kindly, obliging Colonel Tom, known to everybody in Ocala and Marion county. The Ocala delegation tarried with Colonel Tom and his lovely wife.

J. Rayborn Mathewes, who was in charge of the Ocala delegation and its contingent, is a "peach" and was evidently born for just such work. What was to be seen and worth hearing he knew all about and the boys got the benefit of it. He was ably assisted by his brother, J. Creighton Mathewes, a successful furniture dealer of New Orleans and a gentleman whom it is a pleasure to meet.

Among the Mathewes brothers' interesting social experiences at the reunion was their meeting by chance at the Willard Hotel Governor W. B. McSweeney, the brilliant young executive of the Palmetto State, with whom five of the Palmetto State, with whom the Mathewes' had been schoolmates in the high school of Charleston many years ago and this was their first meeting since as boys they left its educational halls. The recognition was almost mutual and the greeting such as is more easily imagined than described.

scribed. But this was only one instance among thousands that touched the heart and caused fond memory to linger over scenes of other days.

"Doc" Turner, of Cordale, was in evidence, too, and to see him fraternize with the boys in genuine Tar Heel style was good for sore eyes. He is a native of the Old North State and belonged to the 34th N. C. V. "Doc" met a host of old friends and all were delighted to see him.

I had almost forgotten to speak of the provision made for the rest and delectation of the members of the press. A big room was set apart for them and nothing was thought too good to be placed in it for those who manipulate the Faber. Everything was free, from pens to punch, cigars and lunch. And such lunch! For particulars see "Doc" Turner, of Cordale; he knows. To General Osborne, who so gracefully and graciously presided, and made all feel at home, we return our thanks.

Louisville covered herself with glory. Her 225,000 people paid fifty cents a head for this entertainment and nothing in that land of fair women, fine horses and unsurpassed mountain dew was too good for the visitors. They truly set 'em up to 65,000 callers and every one received what he asked for.

In numbers and enthusiasm it surpassed any reunion of Confederate veterans ever held and the maximum of fraternization was enjoyed.

We are glad to say that in this great throng, when everything was wide open and there was great temptation to indulge too freely in the brew that intoxicates, very little drunkenness was visible and its absence was happily remarked.

No finer body of men ever assembled than the veterans of the Louisville reunion. Every lineament of their visages told the story of their daring, heroism, dauntless courage and immortal achievements.

Among the pleasant acquaintances formed was that of Rev. H. R. McLendon, of Dawson, Ga., who has written a very desirable book entitled, "The Bible on Baptism," and who is now tarrying at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, to institute further researches in the rich Biblical literature stored in the library of that celebrated institution of sacred learning. Mr. McLendon was a classmate of Rev. J. C. Porter at the Seminary fifteen years ago and remembers him well.

Among the prominent Floridians in attendance was General Law, the department commander, and Major Robertson, of Brooksville, Major Enslee, of St. Augustine, and General Miller, of Washington county.

Among the ladies who renewed their youth in this inspiring gathering was Mrs. Ellen Anderson, of Jacksonville, a highly cultured lady and widow of General Patten Anderson, quite noted in the military annals of 1861-5.

When we come to compare sponsors and mads of honor from the different states of the South, Florida had nothing to be ashamed of.

Dr. Williams, of Jacksonville, in behalf of that city and the board of trade, made a fine plea for the meeting of the association in 1901, but Memphis had come there to get it and carried it off bodily.

It was a great occasion, a memorable week and the editor of the Star, for one, is pleased to think he had the privilege of being there.

We met with R. C. Curry, former railroad agent at this place, taking John Dozier's position during the Spanish-American war while he was at Tampa. Mr. Curry is now stationed at River Junction and is the joint agent of the F. C. & P. and L. & N. railroads, a very important position. He is hearty, weighs two hundred pounds and desires the Star to remember him to his Ocala friends.

A WOMAN'S STORY.

This is to certify that I have been afflicted with Scrofula or Blood Poison for a number of years. The best physicians of Mobile and this city said nothing could be done for me. I took large quantities of * * * but found no relief. My limbs were a mass of ulcers, and when I was sent to a physician in Mobile my entire body was a mass of sores. I had given up all hope, and as a last resort tried P. P. P., and after using four bottles (small size), the sores have entirely disappeared, and my general health was never better than at the present time, and people that know me think it a wonderful cure. ELIZA TODD, Milton, Fla.

What can be worse for a woman than an otherwise beautiful skin covered with sores and eruptions? Can you blame people for avoiding women thus afflicted? They are to be pitied; but what woman wants pity? Besides the humiliation of disfigurement, the itching and burning of skin diseases are almost unendurable.

All women ought to know that all facial and bodily blemishes are caused by impure blood, and are curable. P. P. P. will purify the blood, and when the blood becomes pure all skin diseases vanish.

P. P. P. is a harmless vegetable compound, and never fails to eradicate from the system all traces of Blood Poison, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia and Catarrhal affections.

FROM ONE OF SAVANNAH'S PROMINENT MERCHANTS.

Would not do without it if it cost double, or at any price. Yours truly, CHAS. SEILER.
